About Naples, Italy

Naples – capital of the Italian region Campania and the third-largest municipality in Italy. Naples is one of the oldest continuously inhabited cities in the world. It lies on the west coast of the Italian peninsula, 120 miles (190 km) southeast of Rome. Naples has the fourth-largest urban economy in Italy, after Milan, Rome and Turin. It is the world's 103rd-richest city by purchasing power. The port of Naples is one of the most important in Europe and has the world's second-highest level of passenger flow, after the port of Hong Kong. The “Amalfi Coast” is a stretch of coastline in southern Italy overlooking the Tyrrhenian Sea and the Gulf of Salerno. It is located south of the Sorrentine Peninsula and north of the Cilentan Coast. Dazzling landscapes and fascinating historic and cultural sights await along the stretch of coast between Positano and Vietri sul Mare, famous for its winding highway skirting dramatic cliffs thick with tiny villages and luxurious villas clinging to the rocky slopes and breathtaking views behind every curve
